Pleasanton hoists the flag

Ken Mercer, below left, chairman of the Pleasanton Bicentennial Committee, presents Betsy Ross Flag (with 13 stars in circular configuration to denote the 13 original colonies) to Art Brannan, student body president at Amador Valley High School. At right, Charlotte Severin of Bicentennial Committee unfurls flag hoisted on pole. Ceremonies Monday morning marked official start of flag presentations at Pleasanton area schools. Present were city council and school board members and school district administrators. Mrs. Severin is coordinator of flag presentations. An outdoor assembly is scheduled this morning at 8:30 at Foothill High School with another presentation of a Bi-Centennial flag plus a short assembly program. This will be followed by similar assemblies today at Donlon, 10:45; Vintage Hills, 12:45 p.m., and Valley View, 1:40 p.m. Flag presentations and assembly programs are also scheduled Wednesday at Walnut Grove, 8:30 a.m. and Harvest Park, 9:10 and 10 a.m. A flag raising is scheduled for Alisal School on Friday at 9:30 a.m. Betsy Ross flags also fly from numerous standards throughout the business areas of the city.

Del Prado resident upset with management

PLEASANTON — A dissatisfied Del Prado resident has asked the California Department of Real Estate to investigate alleged "mismanagement" of Del Prado Cabana Club funds.

Gary W. Geis of 2790 Corte San Blas is charging the executive officers of the Cabana Club Board of Directors, the majority of whom are Ponderosa Homes employees, with mismanagement of the club's $14,206.59 1974 budget.

In a letter to the Department of Real Estate, Geis questions the payment of $200 in corporation taxes although the club is supposed to be a non-profit corporation and thus should be exempt from corporation taxes.

Geis also claims "there are vast discrepancies in the figures given to me by the water company, the gas and electric company, the phone company and the garbage company compared to the figures listed on the 1974 operating summary."

Geis added he "wondered" why the management "neglected to question $368.74 (in) PG&E bills in a month when the pool is closed, and $229.95 water bills in the month of December when the pool is closed. This, to me, was negligence on the part of the treasurer," he added.

When contacted by phone Monday, Geis said he is "not claiming any fraud, just poor management of money."

The cabana club has been managed by Ponderosa Homes (Mackay Homes) since it opened more than a year ago. Edson Warner, president of the club board of directors, said, "We were willing to turn it (management of the club) over to the residents and said so at the April board meeting, but I understand they don't want it."

Good Times had by all

Parade draws happy crowd

PLEASANTON — In spite of those 50,000 people who lined Main Street and filled the Alameda County Fairgrounds picnic area, peaceful Pleasanton remained just that following Saturday's second annual "Good Times Parade" — Peaceful.

Only five persons were reported arrested for partaking too generously of humanity's second oldest sin, while one car was towed for obstructing traffic.

Two 12-year-olds were arrested, however, after reportedly shooting at the carnival ferris wheel. A 33-year-old Danville man told police he was carrying his two-year-old son for a ride on the big wheel when he was shot in the leg by a BB-gun.

The youngsters allegedly admitted to shooting at the ferris wheel's lights from a roof top, but said they stopped when they actually hit one.

Police also received the report of a knife attack at the Lions' Park rock concert. The victim would not cooperate, however, and refused to file a complaint.

There were no marijuana arrests, according to police, who said the crowd of 900 at the concert was peaceful.

The alleged knifing took place at 2:30 p.m., but the concert didn't break up until shortly after 4 p.m.

One 13-year-old was arrested for joyriding in his parents' car, and another for throwing a rock at a passing car.

The younger was spotted by residents as he "wove" along Black Avenue. The latter claimed the rock throwing was the result of a personal feud.

The biggest problem, according to police, was roof-perched parade watchers. Some merchants apparently allowed onlookers the use of their roofs, but when the first wave took over they wouldn't let others join them.

Standards are going to have to be set up for future parades, according to Pleasanton police Capt. Ron Nelson, who wants to talk with local merchants before next year's extravaganza — if there is one.

AFTER THE BALL

Clean up following the 300-plus-entry parade was started immediately by a crew of four, according to the city's street department, whose job was compounded by street vendors dumping their garbage when business went bust.

The city's power street sweeper chugged down Main Street and Bernal Avenue in the early hours of Sunday, but broke down before the parking lot of Amador High School — staging area for all entrants, including horses — could be cleaned.

Department spokesmen were told early Monday morning that the lot had not been rezoned as fertilized agricultural land, and promised a clean sweep by this morning.

An additional crew of four swept the carnival area adjacent to the fairgrounds Monday morning.

Police plan to issue a statement later this week on their evaluation of the parade.

An estimated $4,000 was spent by Pleasanton JayCees, Chamber of Commerce and the city, according to a JayCee spokesman, who added JayCees and Chamber "probably made a profit" through the sale of buttons, beer and T-shirts.

Exact figures should be available Wednesday night, he added.

VMH sees end to 'crisis'

LIVERMORE — Valley Memorial Hospital may be back in full operation by the end of the week.

That is the hope of VMH officials as anesthesiologists prepare to meet today with legislators in Sacramento to press for reform of the state's malpractice lawsuit procedures.

It has been anesthesiologists who have been bottlenecking the hospital business throughout the Bay Area because they are refusing to take any but life-or-death emergency cases in protest to their skyrocketing malpractice insurance rates.

They are in a high-risk category and pay as much as $22,000 a year for insurance now that rates have quadrupled as of May 1.

Many doctors announced their walkout would last five days, which would bring it to an end today. Actually, most physicians have grudgingly anted up the high insurance premium and have stayed open as usual.

The expected crush of patients at the VMH emergency room and at the Family Health Care Center in San Ramon did not materialize because patients found their family doctors were practicing, despite earlier threats to the contrary.

Hundreds of Valley residents have a vested interest in the anesthesiologists' decision. Besides those waiting for elective surgery, there are the many hospital employees who are being laid off as a result of the declining number of patients in the hospital.

Half of the workers involved in direct patient care — nurses, aides and orderlies — are out of work now because VMH is at about half capacity.

The pediatrics wing is closed, the lone child patient moved onto another floor. Also closed are the surgical suites.

The maternity floor yesterday held five new mothers and their babies, but none of the 10 to 17 gynecological patients who usually occupy the extra beds in that wing.

The 107 bed community hospital had 101 patients Wednesday, on the eve of the doctor shutdown.

Thursday, that number dropped to 81. There were 77 patients on Friday, 69 Saturday, 57 Sunday and yesterday. Four are patients in the intensive care unit.

Because most doctors are continuing to work, VMH is still admitting non-emergency non-surgical patients — the heart attack victim, the patient coming in for tests, those afflicted with a concussion or broken bones or diabetes or lung problems, for example.

On the other hand, the possible cancer victim who had been scheduled for exploratory surgery must await the end of the protest or go to a hospital not affected by the walkout, such as Tracy General, Kaiser or Highland.

Doctors report that patients have been under the impression all practices have been shut down.

"Call your doctor," advises physician Irven Moncrief of Pleasanton. "If he's not there, his receptionist or answering service will refer you to someone else."

"Don't sit home and wait. It could be dangerous."

"Law and Order" schools: Next trend for Valley?

Hoover principal Bud Clarke

Third-grade teacher lunches with class

Inside Palo Alto's "structured" Hoover School

Second of series
"Fundamental schools" (sometimes referred to as "law and order" classrooms) are coming up for discussion at tonight's Livermore Unified School District board meeting.

A movement is gathering steam in the Valley against "open classrooms," which are being blamed for some children's below-par school performance. More rigid classrooms, free of noise and movement, are beginning to look good again. Local teachers, parents and trustees have been going to see "fundamental schools" such as Hoover in Palo Alto and Redwood in Castro Valley.

A visit to Hoover last week produced favorable reactions from Frances Harper, a Greenville area resident, and a school board member who asked to remain anonymous. The first thing the Livermore visitors noticed about the 120-pupil school was the quiet.

It could have been the small classes (none larger than 25 pupils) or the tiny size of the school.

But it was probably the fact that staying in one's seat and "coming to school to learn, not play" is the order of the day at the peninsula's year-old fundamental school.

The Palo Alto Unified School District began planning for their "more structured alternative" school last spring, at the behest of parents and teachers. Six teachers who showed an avid interest in the program (all over age 50), 120 of Palo Alto's 6,000 elementary children, and an outgoing and very committed principal, Wallace "Bud" Clarke, were brought together for the experiment. Clarke admits the agreement of staff, principal, pupils and parents on the aims of Hoover School is probably the secret of its resounding success as measured by test scores, waiting list length and informal feedback.

Some rules: No grade mixing. No combined classes. One teacher per room. No volunteers.

Routines will not be broken for traffic patrol, helping out in the library or other non-academic distractions. Homework is started the first week of school and is assigned at least four nights out of five. Parents receive written weekly reports of their children's progress as well as formal report cards with letter grades.

Discipline is strict. The principal (who concedes his school is about one-fifth the size of most Livermore schools) is brought immediately into any disciplinary situation.

"I have two rules," says Clarke, who is as soft-spoken and calm as he is determined. "I give the children a reason why they must not do something. And I don't believe in second chances."

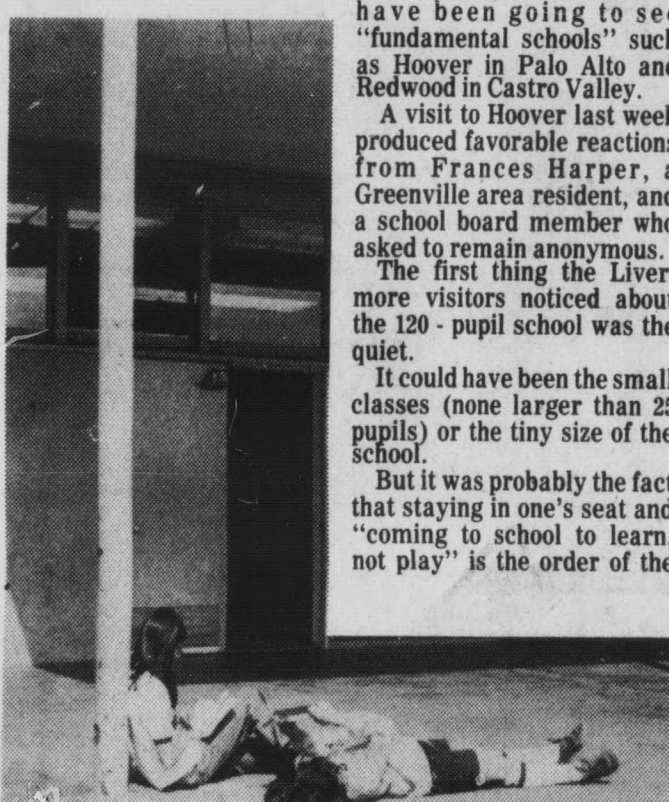

Next: Some fundamental school rules, regulations and curriculum.

Honors list

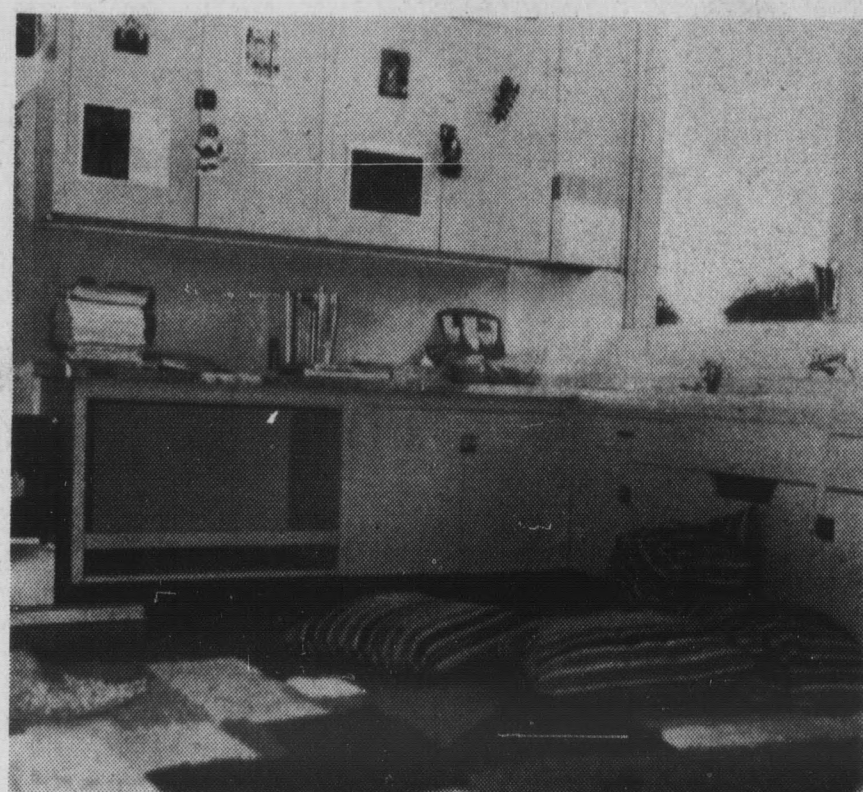

Two Pleasanton and ten Livermore students were named to the Fall Honors List at California State University, Chico, earning a cumulative grade point average of 3.50 or better out of a possible 4.0 and having completed at least 24 units at the university.

Pleasanton students receiving honor roll credit were Donna Jeanne Hatten and Thomas Mitchell Lane.

Livermore honor students named were: Susan Pauline Bailey, Teresa Ann Bobba, Paul David Council, Christine M. Dambra, David Victor Forey, Roberta Lynne Daffer, Deborah Ann Lord, Chris Ellen Mayhew, Jennifer Kay Polzin, and Dolores Ann Thomas.

ABWA SCHOLARSHIP MONTH PROCLAIMED

Local chapter presidents Mary Hall and Mildred Hewitt were on hand at a recent city council meeting as the American Business Women's Association scholarship program was recognized in a proclamation by former Livermore Mayor Robert Pritchard.

Five valley students will receive ABWA scholarships

May has been declared ABWA Scholarship Month by mayors of both Pleasanton and Livermore in recognition of "the valuable influence of the scholarship program" organized by the American Business Women's Association.

The national educational association for businesswomen has two local chapters in the valley: Livermore Valley Charter Chapter and recently formed Las Positas Chapter.

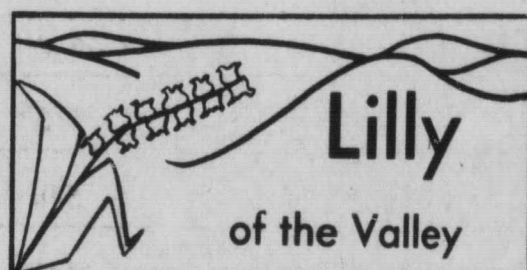

Two valley students will receive scholarships from Las Positas Chapter May 13 at the Emperor's Garden Restaurant in Livermore. They are Diane Steinhaus of Granada High School, and Margaret Lopez, a chapter member and student at Chabot College. Dr. Barbara Mertey, dean of the Chabot College Valley Campus, will be guest speaker at the presentation.

The Livermore Valley Charter Chapter awards scholarships to three students May 20 at Hap's Restaurant in Pleasanton. Scholarship recipients are Delanie Cassel of Livermore High School, Patricia Ann Davidson of Amador High School, and Martha Ordas of Livermore, a student at Berkeley School for the Deaf and Ohlone College. Martha also received a $600 grant from ABWA national headquarters.

Guest speaker at the award dinner will be Soraia Rego, Granada High School foreign exchange student.

Membership in the association is offered to businesswomen by invitation only. For information contact Las Positas Chapter President Mildred Hewitt at 447-3942, or Livermore Valley Charter Chapter President Mary Hall at 443-3004.

Now is the time for the Pleasanton Chamber of Commerce to sit back and decide if they want to continue with a Maid of Pleasanton Pageant or not. To treat the event as something to hold and "get it over with" only comes off as such. It is certainly better to do without a pageant than to make what could be an interesting entertaining event a second rate show.

Marie and Fred Cochran extend their volunteer talents to make this event more than just a "girl" show. The girls do their best in working with the young couple to present an entertaining evening. To have it in conjunction with another event is not fair to these people. Many in the audience were upset that they had to fight the mess of a parade to get to an event they enjoy each year.

A multitude of praise should be extended to the 10 young ladies who competed for the title of "Maid of Pleasanton" Saturday afternoon at the Alameda County Fairgrounds.

In spite of the second billing they took over the parade through the entire promotion of the pageant as well as on Saturday and handicapped with extremely bad weather and facilities, the gals did an outstanding job in performing and smiling through it all.

To quote Mike Cleary of KNBR who served as master of ceremonies, "these were 10 of the loveliest ladies in a pageant he had seen for a long time." Cleary did an excellent job as MC and kept things moving fast as he was well aware the gals were shivering, not to mention the audience.

The lack of reaction from the audience, which was nil, when the winner of the pageant was announced could have been because the audience was worn out from the days activities. The gals on stage, except for one, also were motionless. The winner, Lori Hickman, didn't even move, but that could have been from being completely surprised. Whatever, the ex-ists gaiety that usually waxn't there.

Whoever had the idea of an amphitheater in Pleasanton should be taken to see a psychiatrist immediately! Many functions have been held in this theater and it is the same old story—if you attend at night, you freeze to death, if you attend during the day while the sun is shining you die of the heat.

It's a shame the audience is unable to attend a show, watch in comfort and appreciate the talents being offered. Under the present circumstances, one can hardly wait until the performance is over.

Most places when one attends the theater a long dress can be worn, but here in Pleasanton one wears long johns and carries a blanket! That's for warmth. Now if one really wants to be comfortable and not end up going home with an aching back from sitting on the most uncomfortable bleachers in the world, one has to tote cushions.

Let's hope the Pleasanton Junior Women's Club has the Amador Theater in shape soon from funds received from the Mardi Gras this year so Valley residents can enjoy local talent, when it is being offered, in comfort.

Let us also hope the Maid of Pleasanton Pageant will be taken more seriously and given a bit of class rather than again putting the gals through the mill in an unappreciative way.

Mats, Mustangs duel for EBAL's top spot

Bob Stoddard's pre-game preparation will be a fundamental issue this afternoon when Monte Vista High faces co-league leader Granada in EBAL baseball at Livermore.

Game time is 3:30 for these two teams, tied at 4-2 with a half-game lead over Livermore in the pennant scramble.

Stoddard will be the pitcher for Granada, and Monte Vista is expected to counter with Chris Dudley.

Stoddard won his last outing against Amador Valley a week ago, but suffered characteristic early inning wildness. Coach Dennis Berger is hoping to break his ace right-hander of the first inning blabs by tinkering with his warmup today.

"We talked about it Friday and we decided we'll do something different Tuesday," Berger said. "He's going to be in the bullpen warming up until five minutes before the game instead of sitting down. Last week he sat on the bench for a half-hour at Amador and he just wasn't ready."

Stoddard walked four men and allowed two runs in the first inning against the Dons.

In a 13-inning game with Dublin earlier in the year he walked five men in the first two innings to give the Gaels their only scores. We've tried different things before each game," Berger said; "but we just haven't reached a good pattern yet."

Stoddard's first-inning success could be the key to the ball game today. Neither Granada or Monte Vista are explosive teams. Nobody can afford to fall behind early.

"They don't give up a lot but neither do we," said Berger. "Last time we gave them two runs and they beat us 3-2. They were lucky to get the runs, but then, they've been lucky. They won the game with just one hit. Cockerton (Monte Vista coach George Cockerton) scraps a lot," Berger said. "He tries a lot of strange things. But I've got a feeling we'll be ready."

The Mustangs stopped Granada earlier in the year by scoring their runs on a bloop single and two wild pitches. The rest was done with good pitching and solid defense.

That's been the trademark for both teams.

"We almost take it for granted that we're not going to make a tragic error behind our pitcher," Berger said. "And you won't find Monte Vista making any fundamental mistakes."

The Mustangs were bombed by Amador Friday, 7-3. The loss dropped them into a tie with idle Granada.

Though the Matadors didn't play, they still managed to lose a player, left fielder Jay Strickland. He chopped up a finger tampering with with an automobile fan, and is a doubtful performer. Either Keith Teixeira or Kelly Conrad will fill Strickland's left field position.

The rest of the lineup should appear as it has through the EBAL season, says Berger. "This is just another game and we're not going to start planning changes. It's too late for that."

Granada has never won an EBAL baseball title, though the school finished second one season under Hal Sinclair, and wound up in third place last year.

Likewise, Monte Vista is searching its first league championship. The Mustangs held out Dudley, their top pitcher, in the Amador game Friday, to insure his appearance in the first place battle today. Number two pitcher Don Blesser worked less than two innings against the Dons, and should be available

Ready for the horde

Dear Larry,

It was good to hear that you've completed all the necessary paper work, and that you'll be here a few days in advance of the Bay-to-Breakers. Now all you need is the leg work, and your preparation will be complete.

I should talk. After catching not one, but two, King Kong cramps in last year's race and watching you cruise past with a couple of miles to go (Was it at Prayerbook Cross or Spreckels Lake? The former seems more appropriate.), I shouldn't be lacking incentive.

No doubt you took note of the new arrangements this year. Hats off to the AAU for coming to its collective senses wait under the clock and double-check your time if you like.

Everyone here read your card with great interest when the word got around that Angel center fielder Morris Nettles had moved into your apartment complex. We were hoping you'd have some inside dope on the A's vs. Angels brawl a couple of weekends ago. Where was Morris when it hit the fan?

One of the local TV casters re-played the tape and tried to point out a cheap shot at the head of Alvin Dark. I say it's humanly impossible to pick out one punch among 50 little specks on a television screen, but my brother claims to have seen it. We may have to refer this problem to Morris himself, as my brother has been harboring anti-Dark sentiments since learning that while with the old New York Giants, Dark was rumored to have waved more than a few hard shots through the infield, for fear of blemishing his fielding average. But that's just gossip, Larry, and I wouldn't want you or anyone else despoiling the record of the field boss of the world champs. Never forget, the man hit .289 lifetime. Still, all my brother could say after the punchout was, "I hope it's nothing minor."

But that's the way it happens with the world champs. Even when they swing their fists in the open, they take a bad rap. Which raises another possibility. Can we be absolutely certain that it was an Angel who hit Dark? You might check with Morris on that one too.

Yours in sport,

and abandoning the practice of awarding place numbers to all but 500 of the 5,000 wheezing competitors. Last year's huge field just wouldn't divide itself fairly and equitably among the five chutes at the finish. How odd! It seems comical now, but the sight of a runner in chute two placing 750th, at the precise moment I was being handed stick number 968 in chute three, gave the race the flavor of a 7.6-mile practical joke.

Don't bother to wear your watch this time. They're posting one of those huge Data-Time digital clocks at the finish line. That way, if we're not among the first 500, there'll be no need to queue up at the card tables to hand in the results. Just read the minutes and seconds. I'll

Livermore golfers edge AV

Livermore's Keith Voelker missed a one-foot putt on the ninth hole which would have given him a 36, but settled for medalist honors just the same as the Cowboys nipped Amador Valley, 196-198, in yesterday's EBAL golf headliner.

Teammate Jeff Smith was one stroke behind Voelker with a 38, followed by three Dons bunched at 39. Harold Zosel, Sam Briggs and Randy Peterson shared low honors for Amador.

Neil Zurakowski and Steve Scontriano kept Livermore in the lead with a pair of 40's, matched by AV's Bruce Peters. Mike Lewis of Livermore and Jack Stevenson of AV came next with 41's Lewis, after a horrendous start, eagled the par-five fourth hole.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Weigh what you say today very carefully when dealing with a sensitive friend. A thoughtless remark will leave ill feelings.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You'll find yourself embarrassed if you pal around with friends today who are able to spend more freely than you can.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You won't be as self-disciplined today as you should be. You'll find it easier to put things off till tomorrow.
CANCER (June 21-July 22) Decisions you make today are apt to be short-sighted and based upon conclusions neither factual nor practical.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Be careful in material transactions with friends today. Your generous nature is likely to overrule common sense.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Things will not come your way today by wishful thinking. You'd better roll up your sleeves and get to work.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You'll mistakenly rely upon another to take care of something important you could do better yourself.

South took a long time to bid his hand. When he finally bid six notrump he felt that he might be missing a grand slam, but that anyone should be happy about collecting the rubber and small slam bonus.
He also took a long time to play the hand. At least he wasted a lot of time worrying about spilt milk after he had chucked the whole thing at trick two.
Trick one was easy. He won in dummy. Then he led a low club and went up with the king after East followed with the five spot. West showed out and there was no way for South to win 12 tricks.

Kind to Animals Week

This week is national Be Kind to Animals Week and there is no better time to remind valley residents that dogs, cats, roosters and other assorted animals are available for adoption at the Alameda County Animal Shelter at Santa Rita. Develop fed'l land bill posed Representative Fortney (Pete) Stark has co-introduced legislation in Washington D.C. that would encourage local communities to buy and develop surplus federal land for job-making enterprises such as industrial parks.

The 3000 acre federal-owned Camps Parks complex in Pleasanton is only about half-utilized and conceivably could be declared surplus under the terms of the proposed legislation.

Stark, who introduced the bill along with House Majority Leader Thomas P. (Tip) O'Neill, said the legislation is particularly significant to areas with high unemployment and those with military facilities that might be shut down due to defense cut-backs.

If the bill became law, cities, counties or states would be offered surplus land below fair market value for the specific purpose of economic development.

He added, however, that he does not anticipate any such closures in the 9th Congressional District.

Rutter trial date July 10

LIVERMORE — Judge John A. Lewis Friday morning set July 10, for a jury trial of battery charges against John Rutter of Dublin.

The charges stem from a June 18, 1974, incident in which it is alleged Rutter struck then 18-year-old Bradley Wallace, 7550 Bonniewood Rd., Dublin.

Rutter's attorney, Wayne Witchez, moved for dismissal of charges on Feb. 21. After taking it under advisement, Judge Lewis denied the motion the following week.

Witchez argued for dismissal on grounds of civil compromise, claiming the case had been prejudiced by pre-trial proceedings.

The former Scoutmaster resigned his position following the incident.

Pool safety program readied by fire dept.

Splash! A child falls into your swimming pool. You fish him out as quickly as possible. What do you do now? Six minutes in the water, his heart has stopped. In ten minutes, brain damage has been suffered. Do you know who to call for quickest first aid response? Do you know how to prevent it from happening in the first place? Many people would have called an ambulance. "This is wrong. An ambulance takes too long. You should always call the fire station first," says Pleasanton Fireman Larry Howard.

Howard will be one of the instructors in a pool safety course to be conducted jointly by the Recreation Department and Pleasanton Firemen to teach pool owners both preventative measures and accident procedures.

The course was initiated by Sandee Cherry, whose 8-year-old son fell into their spa last year, and luckily was seen and pulled out. Since that accident last year, two more children have fallen into their pool with their clothes on and, again luckily were rescued.

Cherry went to city hall and demanded to know why people with pools Pleasanton did not have preventive outlines drawn up and distributed to pool owners.

When she was told it was due to the lack of volunteers, she herself agreed to scan city files of registered pool owners and mail each several brochures on pool safety, regulations, laws, backyard rules and gate locking operations.

"Many people who just moved into a house are unaware of proper pool procedures and laws, and someone's got to tell them," said Cherry.

Pleasanton hasn't suffered a swimming pool fatality in several years, and wants to keep it that way.

The course will cover mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, backyard safety rules, and securing of entrance to pools. It will be offered on May 15 and 22 at the Aquatic Center Recreation Building, 4455 Black Ave., from 7:30 - 9:30 p.m.

Brown views campus smoking bill

High school students would be permitted to smoke in specially designated areas on campus under a bill currently awaiting Governor Edmund G. Brown, Jr.'s signature.

Sponsored by State Senator Arlen Gregorio, D - San Mateo, Senate Bill 171 would authorize (but not require) governing boards of school districts to set up certain areas on high school campuses permitting students to smoke.

The bill is designed to not only give students the right to smoke, but protect the rights of non-smokers whose restrooms are frequently clouded by the gray haze of surreptitious smokers.

Gregorio predicted the measure might even reduce the amount of smoking on campus. "A lot of kids smoke because it is forbidden," said Gregorio.

Superintendent Bruce Newlin of the Amador Valley Joint Union School District wasn't as enthusiastic about the possible effects of the bill, however. "In the sense that it will stop smokers from blowing smoke in the faces of non-smokers, the intent of the bill is beneficial."

"However, if we allow students to smoke on campus at the same time it is against the law for minors to buy cigarettes, then a contradiction exists. I'm a non-smoker, myself," said Newlin.

Passage of the bill "would protect the non-smoker, but we are not doing any favors for the smokers," Newlin said. A provision of the bill directs school boards to discourage smoking, however.

If the bill passes, Newlin would create a task force composed of parents, teachers, administrators, and students from all three high schools in the district to determine if smoking areas should be designated in this district. Their recommendation would not be binding on the school board, but would be taken under advisement. Newlin said he would consider a district-wide vote of high school students to increase input into the decision-making process.

Superintendent Leo Croce of the Livermore Unified School District could not be reached for comment.

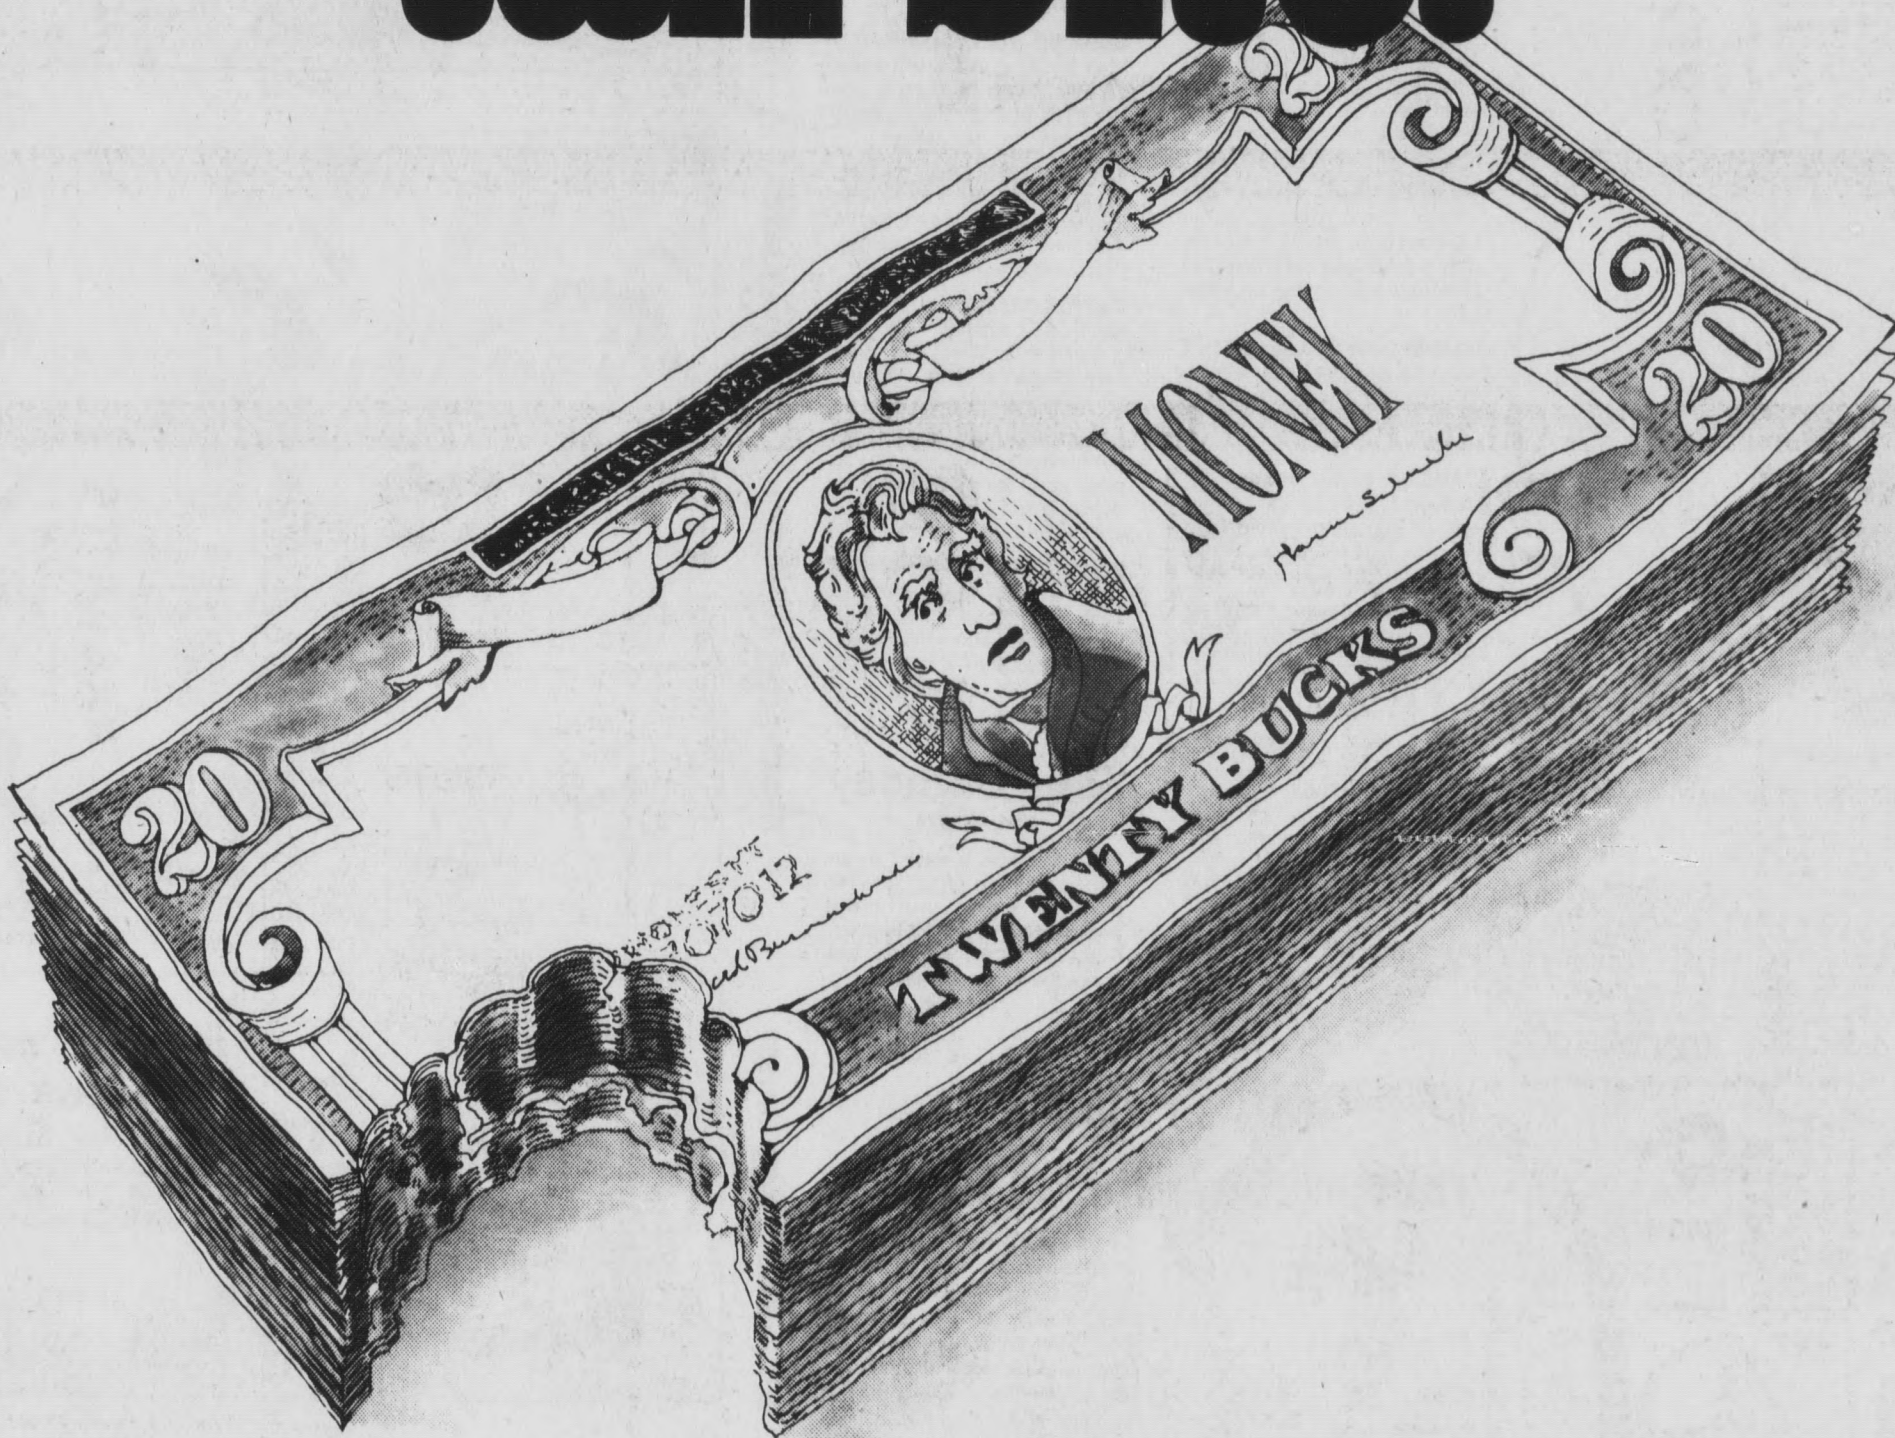

The bill was passed by the state senate on a bare one-vote margin, 21 - 16, on February 27.

How to prevent tax bite.

Introducing the Crocker Retirement Bond: a plan to protect up to $1,500 a year from the tax man until you retire.

Let's say the company you work for doesn't have a pension or profit-sharing plan.

Unless you've got some other outside source of income, that means you're not covered for retirement.

Crocker—and Uncle Sam—would like to change that. With a plan that lets you save any amount up to 15% of your present salary (not to exceed $1500 a year) without paying Federal taxes on it right now. (State taxes are not yet exempt.) The plan allows you to save either a lump sum of cash or make small, comfortable periodic deposits. You don't pay tax on the interest your money earns in the plan, either.

When you retire, you're taxed only on what you take out—when you take it out. And, because you're no longer earning a salary, you pay at a much lower tax rate.

So really, you prevent a big bite now—while you're saving—by accepting a smaller bite later, when you need to spend what you saved.

The Crocker Retirement Bond is simply our name for the U.S. Treasury's "Individual Retirement Account." So we're not the only ones to offer it.

But where others require you to begin with a lump sum of $500 to $1000, Crocker has come up with a way that lets you start saving comfortably with any amount you want.

It's called our "Retirement Starter Account." And with it you can immediately enjoy both the tax benefits of a retirement plan, plus 5% annual interest.

Later, when your retirement fund builds up, you can elect to purchase one of our four higher-interest Retirement Bond options. Or you can choose to remain with your "Retirement Starter Account."

Of course, if you have a lump sum of $300 or more, you can bypass the Retirement Starter Account and purchase a Crocker Retirement Bond that earns an even higher interest rate.

And, if you're leaving a company with a large amount of cash from stock, profit-sharing or retirement programs, the Crocker Retirement Bond is a terrific way to shelter your capital from tax bite.

There's a lot more to tell you about Crocker Retirement Bonds. So we've put it all in a free booklet you can send for.

Better yet, come in and pick up a copy in person. And let a Crocker banker help you start preventing tax bite today.

I would like to know HOW TO PREVENT TAX BITE.

Modern SR dome draws 'nuke' speculation

Tuesday, May 6, 1975

"Some people beat around the bush when they come out here, but others just come right out and say it — 'Just what do you do out here?'"

Gerald Carter, the Office Manager at the Pacific Gas & Electric Research Center on Crow Canyon Road in San Ramon, has to field those questions primarily because of the ultramodern geodesic dome that looms over the rest of the center. When people see the dome and the PG&E sign, they automatically assume that there must be nuclear reactor underneath, it seems, and they tend to be a little nervous.

However, there's no reactor and precious little radioactivity at the San Ramon Research Center, but the 110 employee facility still deals with the vanguard of modern technology.

There are ten separate laboratories, a power test yard and a physical testing area on the 15 acre site just east of Highway 680 and that geodesic dome is used as an extra high voltage test and fog chamber to determine the ability of various parts to withstand high voltage.

The dome is also used to test what happens when mist and dirt combine on insulators carrying a high voltage — although valley residents can recall many power outages that resulted from that combination.

Naturally, PG&E would like to avoid the almost certain power failures that accompany the first light rain of the fall, and the dome is a great help in trying to solve that problem. The power failure occurs when the insulators get dirty (which is not a problem by itself) and wet — then the insulators no longer insulate (because the electricity can flow through the combination dust and water) and the power goes out.

It used to be that solving those kinds of problems and testing products that PG&E was considering purchasing occupied most of the man-hours at the plant but now "approximately 50 per cent of our effort is environmentally directed" says Carter.

The Research Center does extensive work on proposed sites for power plants, determining what the environment is before the plant is built and what it is likely to be after the plant is built.

To do that, PG&E employs biologists, zoologists, chemists, divers and other life scientists that are not normally associated with power companies. All those researchers work out of the Crow Canyon Road building, but Carter estimates that only 50 to 70 of the 110 employees are there on any given day.

The rest are out at PG&E power plants and prospective power plants, checking out the environmental effects of PG&E operations.

With PG&E actively constructing nuclear power plants, it's no surprise that some research into radioactivity and land and sea life is studied in San Ramon. What is surprising is that the radiation levels in life near the nuclear power plant at Humboldt Bay were so low that the original container to hold the material was naturally more radioactive than the material to be studied.

Actual inhouse work is concentrated mainly on product testing, and with the wide variety and large amounts of products that PG&E purchases each year, that testing is indispensable.

For example, a manufacturer might claim he has an insulator that can stay in the sun for five years without trouble, withstand 500,000 volts and absorb 300 foot pounds of impact without breaking.

So, before PG&E would invest large sums of money in these insulators, several would be taken to the Research Center and thoroughly tested.

First, the Corrosion and Protective Coatings Laboratory would test the insulator for its reaction to sunlight, rainwater and any other materials it might come in contact with while on a power pole.

If those tests were passed, it would be sent to the High Voltage Laboratory where first 300,000 volts would be run through it, then 500,000 volts and perhaps finally 700,000 volts to see if the manufacturer's product lived up to his sales pitch.

Finally, the insulators would be taken to Physical Testing, where 300 pound weights would be dropped from the height of one foot to see if they would break under the load.

And similar tests are made on the wide variety of products that PG&E purchases. Ropes are tested for strength, safety helmets are tested for durability, turbines for geothermal power plants are tested for ability to withstand corrosion and aluminum kites are tested for their effect on high voltage power lines (and vice versa) and hundreds more are tested for hundreds of different capabilities constantly at San Ramon.

The center opened in 1971, and although the original flood of people just "wondering by" who wondered what was going on inside has slowed to a trickle, Carter, a San Ramon resident, still has to calm occasional querulous visitors who are convinced the ultramodern dome must hide a nuclear reactor.

Photos set Thursday at Amador

PLEASANTON — Photographs will be taken of all students, except seniors, at Amador Valley High School May 8 so that student body cards can be sold in September with identification pictures on them.

The notices going out to all students indicate that the photos are necessary so that administration files may be complete, and so that the annual staff can do a more efficient job earlier in the school year.

According to the notice, the photographer furnishes black and white pictures for the student body cards at no cost to the student or school.

The school, in turn, allows the photographer to offer a color package of pictures to the students and/or parents who wish them. Color packages will be made only for students who pay $3.60 to the photographer on the day pictures are taken (May 8). The package includes one 5x7, two 3x4 and 10 pocket size. A deluxe package, costing $6, includes one 8x10, two 3x5 and eight pocket size. This package includes minor blemish retouching.

LEGAL NOTICE

and Procedures), adopted by the City Council of the City of Pleasanton on January 27, 1975, proposed Tentative Tract No. 3606 has been determined to require an environmental impact report.

The project consists of the construction of 41 single-family detached homes on a 9-acre site located immediately north of Woodthrust Road between the neighborhood park on the west and the future homes fronting on Sanderling Way on the east.

It is the finding of the Director of Housing and Community Development that this project might create, to a significant degree, environmental effects enumerated in Resolution No. 75-22 which indicate that the environment may be harmed. The development of this land for residential use might result in a substantial detrimental effect on air quality and on ambient noise levels for adjoining areas. Involves the possibility of contaminating a public water supply system, could expose people or structures to major geologic hazards and has the potential to curtail the range of the environment.

For more information on this case, contact the Department of Housing and Community Development, 200 Bernal Avenue, Pleasanton, CA 94566, telephone 846-3202.

Unless any written appeals of this case are received by this department within ten (10) days of the above date of publication of this notice in the Pleasanton Times, whichever is later, this decision will become effective.

Formation of universe idea eyed

A key experiment that supports the "big bang" theory of the formation of the universe has been recently completed at the Lawrence Berkeley Laboratory.

The "big bang" theory postulates that the universe originated from a huge explosion that has supplied the energy for all the stars and galaxies ever since.

The competing theory is the steady state theory, which states that the universe has remained the way it is now permanently and will continue to do so.

If indeed there was a big bang, that explosion should have left trails of radiation that could be tracked even today, but unfortunately that radiation would have degenerated into the infrared band of light.

Since there is so much infrared light emitted on earth and by the sun that it has been previously impossible to sort out the residue of the big bang, if it indeed existed.

However, LBL's Dr. Paul Richards and three graduate students have successfully found that "fossil" infrared radiation with the use of a liquid helium-cooled antenna and a cooled infrared spectrometer.

The data was gathered by a high altitude balloon and then processed at Berkeley.

'Day on Green' Rec excursion

Tickets sell on a first come first serve basis and are available at the Westwind Teen Center, 4455 Black Ave., Pleasanton.
